

SSCP Virtual Training

Neurodiversity in Children/Young People Who Are Academically Achieving

Target Audience: All professionals who work with Salford children, young people and families.

This session will cover children and young people, who may not have a significant learning disability or difficulty but may present with neurodevelopmental needs that are less obvious.

Aims of the session:

- To develop an understanding of the more subtle presentations of autism both at home and in school including:
  - Autism in cognitively able children
  - Female/internal presentations
  - PDA/EDA profiles
- Consider how best to support families
